LOUIS XIII

Remy Martin

LOUIS XIII - REMY MARTIN

"It's one century in a glass." - Pierrette Trichet - Louis XIII Cellar Master

Louis XIII represents the effort and know how of an entire century. It is aged between 40 and 100 years, and can take up to four generations of cellar master oversight before it is ready to drink. The final blend contains an astonishing 1200 individual eaux-de-vie from Grand Champagne Vineyards.

WHISTLEPIG BOSS HOG VIII - LAPULAPU'S PACIFIC

"The one that made it around the world"

This deeply complex symbol of liquid perfection began its journey peacefully resting in American oak for 17 years constructing a base layer of vanilla and a hint of sweetness. Then, this already beautiful expression was loaded aboard a ship bound for Andalusian Spain. Upon arrival rare Spanish oak staves were added imparting flavors of cinnamon and allspice. The next leg of the voyage required another Atlantic crossing, seeking to add finishing layers of caraway and caramel from South American Teakwood found in Brazil. This point marked the end of the expedition for half of the barrels. They returned home, and were bottled and released as Boss Hog VII "Magellan's Atlantic". The epic sequel began in continuance of recreating the journey of the famous seafarer. The remaining barrels sailed on through the straight that bears his name, and back out to sea. Captain Magellan originally ventured into the Pacific ocean and made land fall in the Philippines. There he met his fate at the hands of the legendary Filipino warrior LapuLapu who fiercely defended his home against the Spainards. In honor of the aforementioned inspirational hero this extremely rare edition enjoys a double finish in high toast, small batch, Philippine rum casks adding warm spice and tropical notes.
